

Consulting and professional services workplace snapshot

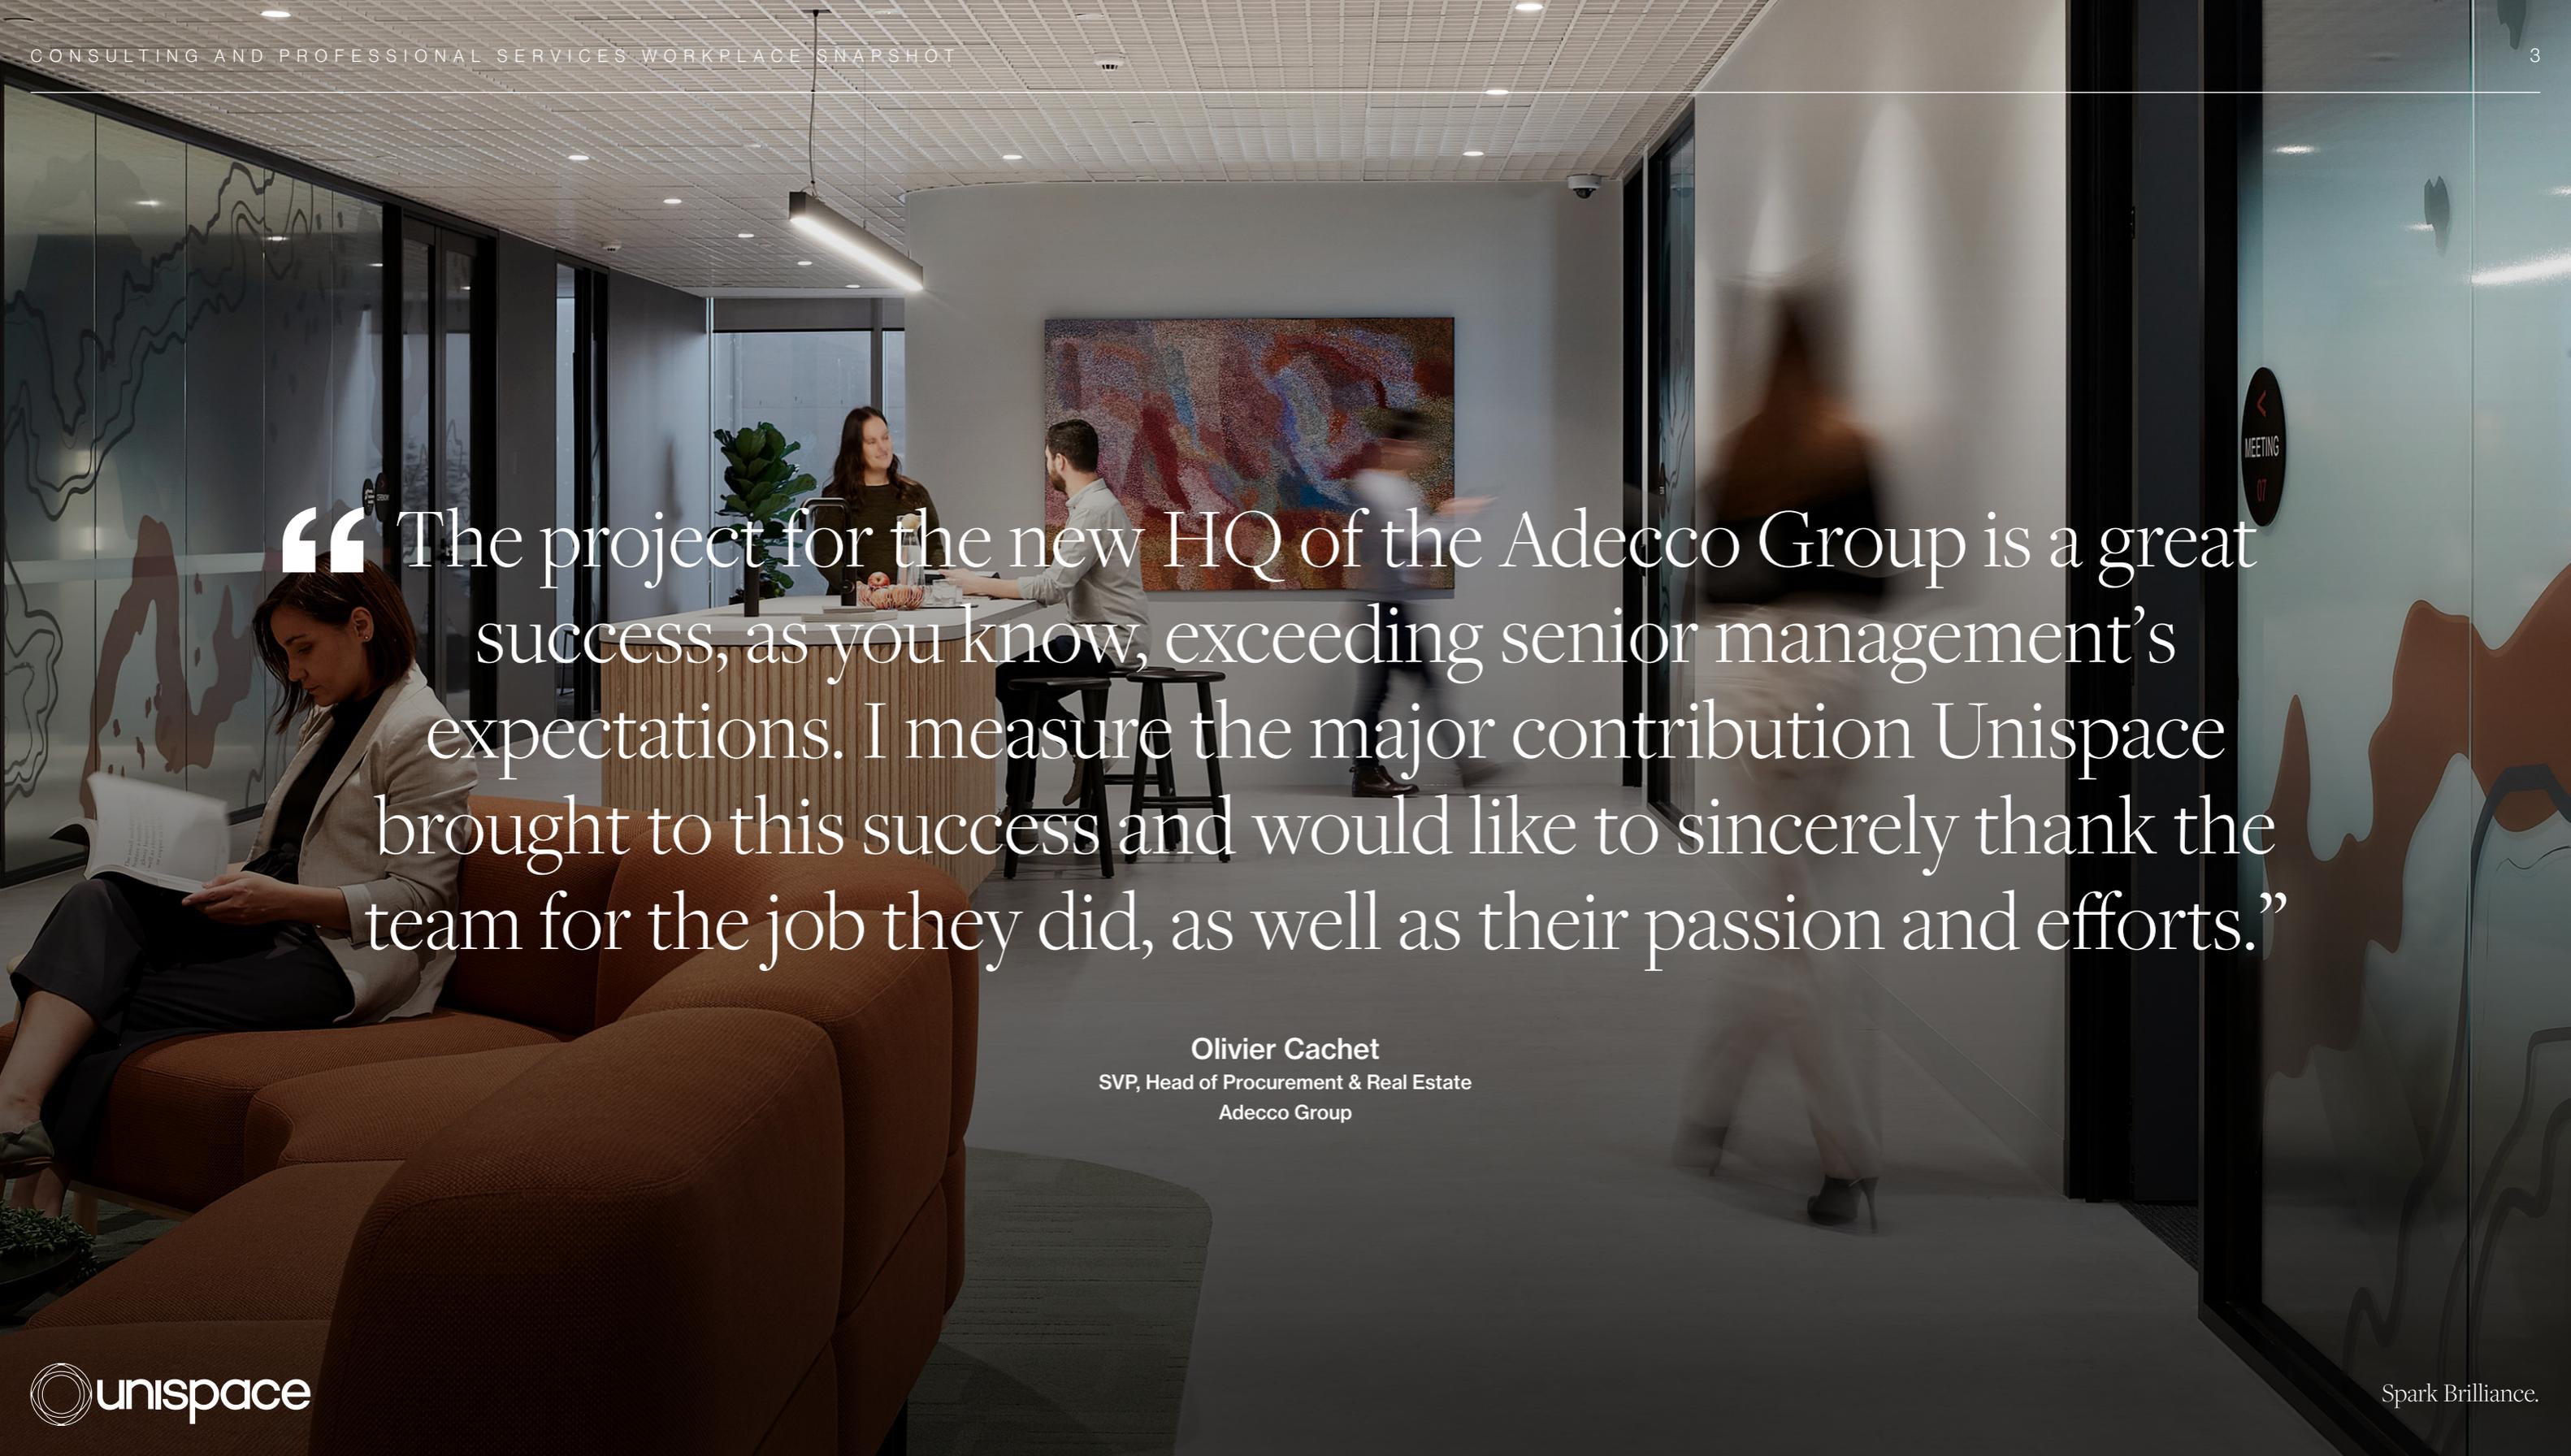

Industry overview

Consultancies and professional service firms depend on environments that support idea sharing, problem-solving, and meaningful client engagement.

Hybrid work has reshaped expectations: teams want workplaces that feel energizing, collaborative, and culturally aligned.

This snapshot distills the latest GWI data to reveal the trends shaping professional services today—from flexibility to talent attraction to client-ready environments.

“The project for the new HQ of the Adecco Group is a great success, as you know, exceeding senior management’s expectations. I measure the major contribution Unispace brought to this success and would like to sincerely thank the team for the job they did, as well as their passion and efforts.”

Olivier Cachet
SVP, Head of Procurement & Real Estate
Adecco Group

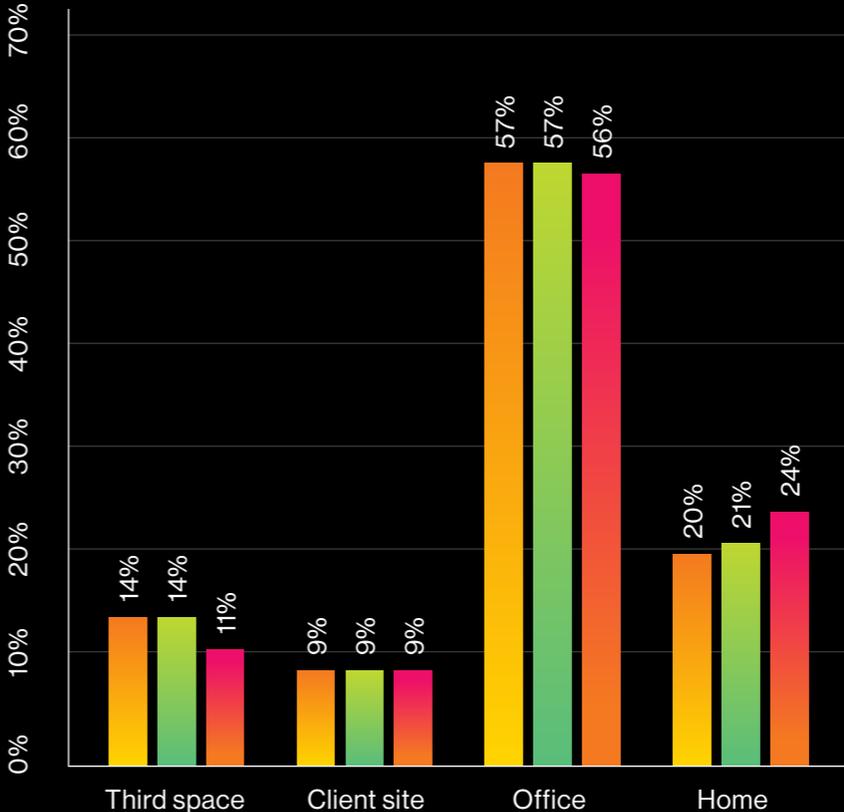

GWI insights

A Moment of Clarity:
Global Workplace Insights
2025-2026 industry data

Current work policies

Split of working hours across locations

Insight narrative:
Professional services teams perform best when environments support rapid knowledge exchange and high-trust cooperation.

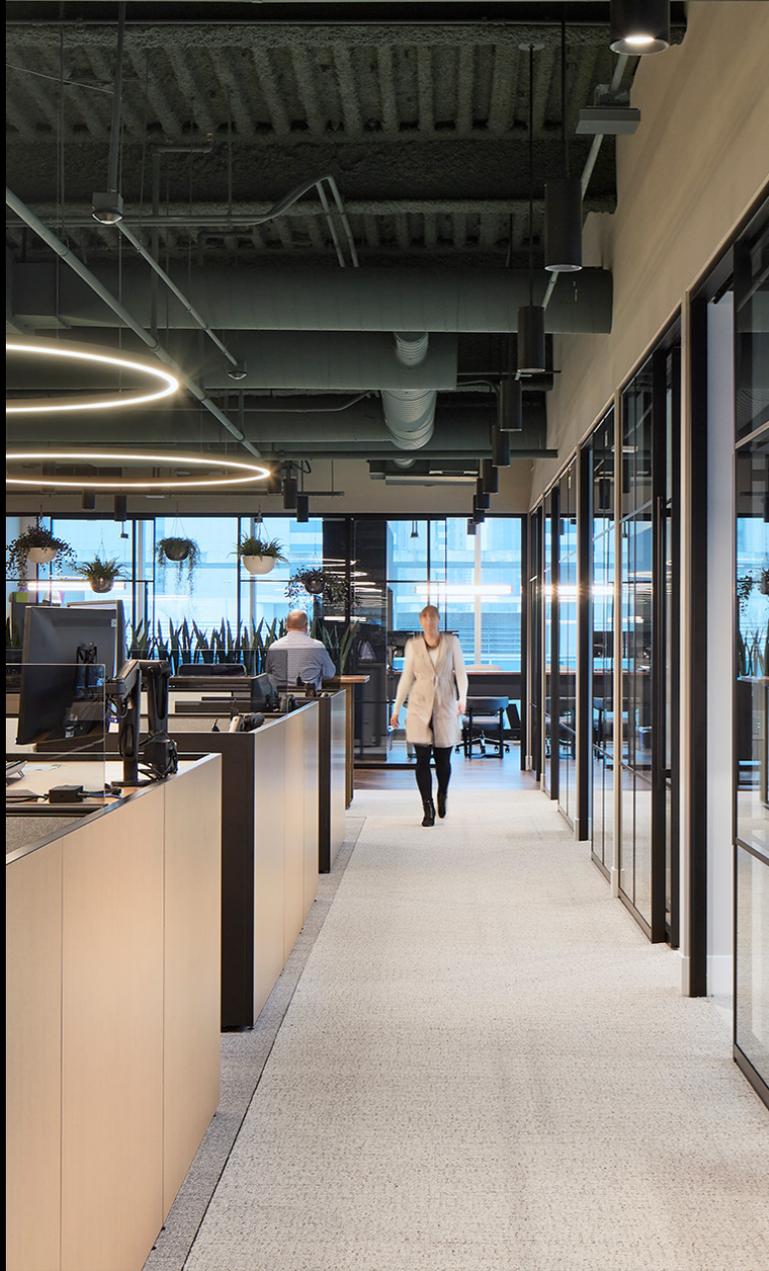

Teams crave well-designed spaces that make collaboration effortless and reinforce firm identity.

- Global average (all industries)
- Industry average (Professional services)
- Industry average (Consulting)

What this means for your workplace

- 01 Prioritize flexible project and sprint spaces
- 02 Create client-engagement areas that show capability and credibility
- 03 Support hybrid teaming behaviors through tech-enabled collaboration
- 04 Strengthen culture through social and communal environments

WHY UNISPACE

We translate complex consulting workflows into workplaces that enhance connection and performance. Our integrated delivery approach ensures alignment from strategy through construction.

CONNECT WITH OUR INDUSTRY WORKPLACE EXPERTS